Professor Sameh Aboul Enein at New York for Pugwash Consultation

On Saturday, May 3rd, 2014, Ambassador Professor Sameh Aboul Enein, adjunct professor of International Security and Disarmament at the School of Global Affairs and Public Policy, AUC participated in panel discussion organized by Pugwash Conference on Science and World Affairs at the headquarter of UN in New York entitled “Pugwash Consultation on Weapons of Mass Destruction, the Middle East, and Non-Proliferation.”

Ambassador Aboul Enein took part in a series of discussions that are related to WMDFZ and the regional status of international regimes to control WMD, Iran nuclear program, and lessons and updates on Syria’s chemical program with Pugwash Secretary General Paolo Cotta-Ramusino, Ambassador Wael Al-Assad, Representative of the Secretary General for Disarmament and Regional Security and the Director of Disarmament and Multilateral Relations at the League of Arab States, and Tariq Rauf, the Director of SIPRI’s Arms Control and Non-proliferation Programme. The event involved current and former participants and a range of regional, legal, humanitarian, and chemical weapons experts from NGOs, civil society, and academia.